

STUDENT ASSISTANCE

Provided by Shotover Wildlife

Postgraduate projects

Oxford Brookes University

- Assistance to a postgraduate Environmental Impact case study

Reading University

- 'An Investigation into Heathland Restoration at Shotover Country Park, Oxfordshire', Edwards (2003)
- Hymenoptera study at the BBOWT Warburg Reserve (2007)
- Plant communities associated with acid grassland on Shotover , (current)

Sheffield University

- Assisted with research arising from SW survey work (DNA sampling of rare plants)

Undergraduate case studies and final year projects

Nottingham University

- 'Sutton Bonington Spinney Management Plan', Sealey and Wright (2005)
- 'Are there any differences in invertebrate abundance between organic and conventional crops?', Wright (2005)

Oxford Brookes University

- 'Abundance mobility and survivorship of small mammals in Shotover Country Park', Curtis (2002)

Oxford University Department of Continuing Education

- Marsh plant communities comparison on Shotover, 2000
- Aspects of the gullying of paths on Shotover, 2007

Work experience

Plymouth University

- Supervision of undergraduate students volunteering for experience in conservation research and monitoring (September 2006 to July 2007)

Site visits and general assistance

Brighton University

- Undergraduate project assistance, 2007 (plant communities)

Keele University

- Undergraduate project assistance, 2001

Nottingham University

- Undergraduate project assistance and loan of microscope, 2004 (ecology)
- Undergraduate project assistance and loan of microscope, 2005 (coleoptera)

Oxford Brookes University

- Undergraduate project assistance, 2001 (habitats)
- Undergraduate project assistance, 2002 (butterflies)
- Undergraduate project assistance, 2004 (habitats/flora)
- Undergraduate project assistance, 2006 (molluscs)

Oxford University: School of Geography

- Undergraduate tours for vegetation/geology appreciation, 2003

Plymouth University

- Undergraduate project assistance, 2006 (woodland management)

Reading University

- Undergraduate project assistance, 2001